

You can find recommendations for reading materials for gifted learners in a variety of places:

From Hoagies Gifted Education Page:

http://www.hoagiesgifted.org/reading_lists.htm (with multiple additional links to help you find just what you might want);

(Don't forget you can order your books AND help Hoagies continue its work on behalf of gifted learners—Hoagies is made possible through the incredibly hard work of volunteers, but if you follow their link for Shop Hoagies (<http://www.hoagiesgifted.org/shop.htm>), you can click on something like Amazon, buy your books, and Hoagies gets a few cents (it doesn't cost YOU any extra!)

From GT-World's Reading Lists: <http://vcbconsulting.com/gtworld/gtbook.htm>

From a Prufrock blog:

From a public school teacher who just wanted to share: Best-Loved Books: A Unique Reading List for Gifted Students in Grades 6-12:
